

6th International Workshop on Performance Modeling, Evaluation, and Optimization of Parallel and Distributed Systems (PMEO-PDS'07)

1. Preface

Welcome to PMEOPDS'07! This is the sixth time a one-day workshop on Performance Modeling, Evaluation, and Optimization of Parallel and Distributed Systems is being held in conjunction with IPDPS.

Performance modeling, evaluation, and optimization of parallel and distributed systems have been an important and fundamental research topic over the past years and pose challenging problems that require innovative tools and techniques to keep up with the rapid evolution and increasing complexity of such systems. The workshop aims to provide a forum for scientists, engineers, practitioners, and computer users to share their experience and report state-of-the-art and in-progress research in this research field.

In response to the Call-for-Papers, 31 submissions have been received from all over the world. All submissions have been peer-reviewed by the members of the technical program committee and/or external reviewers. The manuscripts have been ranked according to their original contribution, technical strength, presentation, and relevance to the main theme of the workshop. 18 papers have been selected for presentation at the workshop and inclusion in the IPDPS'07 proceedings. The scope covered by the selected papers is quite broad, reflecting the importance and recent development of performance related topics at all levels of parallel and distributed systems.

We would like to deeply thank the IPDPS Workshop Organizing Committee for giving us this opportunity to organize PMEOPDS'07, especially to the IPDPS Workshops Chair, Prof. Alan Sussman and Vice Chair, Prof. Yuanyuan Yang, for their great help and guidance. Our thanks also go to all authors for their valuable contributions and to all program committee members and reviewers for providing timely and in-depth reviews. Last but not least, we thank the attendees of this workshop. We hope you will enjoy the program!
